white board and magnets
to see who's in or out”

FireWatch

Roll-Call & Who's in System

Many people already carry some kind of access control card or fob at their place of work to enable them to move around their premises, so using this very same card or fob to carry out other tasks is an interesting prospect to many organisations.

A key subject currently is knowing who is in a building or on the premises at the point of fire alarm activation or other such emergency.

Typically this is handled by a visitor and staff book at reception so relies on a single point of entry and booking and relies on old fashioned paper.

Well not any more - finally fire registration is brought up to date.

With our system you can now use a simple fob or card (even your existing ones if you already have access control). Staff, Visitors and Contractors simply present at the Booking In Point to register on site and at the Booking Out Point on departure. The system does the rest.

You can also have multiple entrances too making life simpler on large sites to stop queuing.

Upon activation of the fire alarm or emergency procedure the system will print out everyone who's in the building, or using our latest app, will send this information to your PDA or Smart phone so you can check people off. It can even show you a picture of who you're looking for larger organisations!
